Matchmaking day for researchers and stakeholders in reindeer husbandry

Welcome to register before August 17 - expand your network

NKJ invite researchers and stakeholders interested in reindeer husbandry to a matchmaking day online, August 25, 2020. We co-arrange with SNS, our sister organisation. Speakers will be:

- Future reindeer husbandry: Åsa Larsson-Blind, Svenska samernas riksförbund
- Reindeer herding, forestry and land use: Jouko Kumpula, LUKE
- Reindeer herding and climate change: Sirpa Rasmus, University of Lapland
- Reindeer health and supplemental feeding: Morten Tryland, The Arctic University of Norway

Networking with the participants in focus is the main purpose of the day. Register to broaden your network and we will find the best ways to the future for reindeer husbandry together!

OPEN CALL: Plant and soil health and self-efficiency in agriculture

We support Nordic cooperation in the agriculture sector! If you want to arrange a conference, gather colleagues to write a largescale application for research funding or design policy recommendations, here is your chance to get funding! We particularly encourage networks that relate to aspects of plant health, soil health or Nordic food security and self-sufficiency in agriculture to apply for funding. However, we also welcome applications from networks with focus on other aspects of Nordic agriculture and food research to apply for funding.

Digital testbeds have a common website

We believe digital testbeds in the Nordic region will benefit from cooperation and exchange of experiences and knowledge. That's why we started the Nordic Testbed Network.

Now it will be easy for all interested to find the network and get in contact! Visit the
