Concluding webinar for the Nordic Berry Research Network

The Nordic Berry Research Network has concluded its activities with a final webinar. So what has the contacts between Nordic researchers lead us to? And what is to come in the near future?

During the network period, researchers from Finland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark have focused on shared challenges related to sustainability, climate resilience, production, utilisation and market development of berries.

Broad mix of participants at the 4th Field Trials Conference

Field trial professionals and enthusiasts in the Nordic region had a real peak last week, at least if attending the 4th Nordic Field Trials Network (NFTN) Conference in Skejby last week.

"The broad mix of people and institutions made the conference exceptionally well attended and very valuable", network coordinator Nicolai Fog Hansen points out.
